STUDENT ARCH
provides a platform for students and young graduates from technical universities as well as from universities of art & design.

1st place: 1000 Euro
and a trip to Admont.

As the head of committee was chosen Ing. Arch
David Cais from atelier
Orange Machine.

Description

Your task is to create classy ACOUSTIC INTERIOR ELEMENTS by using the design of Admonter ACOUSTICs. Whether you employ hanging or standing elements or maybe wall or ceiling panels, is completely your decision. This requires creative spatial solutions, but should bring at the same time acoustic benefits. Take advantage and get ideas from our reference projects on the Admonter homepage: www.admonter.eu Here you find many nicely implemented interior designs.

*"Do you want to be a designer or architect?
Take advantage of this international competition and show what's in you.
Inspire your surroundings and come up with your interesting suggestion. Maybe your proposal will win the first prize."*

Says the head of committee
Ing. Arch David Cais.

Condition

The project is required to be sent via email either in PDF or JPG (a paper size 1x A3) and to contain visualisation/ 3D previews. Our committee laying stress on high quality preview does not highlight potential technical documentation. The design interior or element is supposed to be fully realizable. We ask all participant to provide their works with either English or German description. Furthermore, please attach to the email your contact information (first name, last name, phone number). The attachment size cannot exceed 25 MB. The university graduates can participate in this competition only in case that they finished their studies 2 years ago (or earlier).

Evaluation

The head of committee Ing. Arch David Cais, from atelier Orange Machine and his team of professionals are going to assess each project that meets all mentioned criteria. The registered works will be evaluated according to the following pattern: 30% idea, 30% originality, 20% functionality and 20% quality of preview.
